

Erasmus+ Erfahrungsbericht

Gastland	Spain
Gasthochschule	Universidad Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

During my Erasmus exchange, I took three important courses: DESARROLLO DE APLICACIONES PARA CIENCIA DE DATOS, COMPUTACIÓN EN LA NUBE, and PROGRAMACIÓN DE APLICACIONES MÓVILES NATIVAS. These courses not only deepened my understanding of cutting-edge web development trends but also equipped me with practical skills that have significantly enriched my professional profile. The comprehensive and hands-on nature of the course content has proven to be a valuable addition to my CV.

A significant part of my academic experience was building connections with the professors and teachers of these subjects. This networking was crucial for me at this point in my career, providing insights, mentorship, and potential collaboration opportunities. Connecting with professionals in the field broadened my perspective and gave me a solid foundation for my future endeavors.

In addition to these courses, I enrolled in EMPRENDIMIENTO Y CREACIÓN DE EMPRESAS DE BASE TECNOLÓGICA, which provided a comprehensive overview of the requirements for becoming an entrepreneur. Although my immediate career goal does not involve entrepreneurship, this subject offered valuable insights for the long term. It highlighted the essential skills and knowledge needed for establishing and running a technology-based business, making it a viable option for future consideration.

I also took a German language course, specifically German B1 as part of the degree intended for interpreters. Unfortunately, I didn't pass the course, since its content was very dense, and my initial level was not the same of the others, but the experience was still valuable for my overall language proficiency.

Beyond academics, my time in Gran Canaria offered a rich cultural and geographical experience. Exploring the island revealed enchanting hiking trails, striking a good balance between academics and leisure. The island's diverse landscapes, from the Dunas de Maspalomas to the iconic Roque Nublo, added a unique dimension to my overall Erasmus journey. The Dunas de Maspalomas, with its golden sand dunes stretching, offered a surreal setting for relaxation and exploration. Roque Nublo, a towering volcanic rock, became a symbol of the island's geological wonders, and the hike to its summit provided breathtaking panoramic views.

One of the highlights was an extended excursion with the Marine Science students, where we embarked on a boat journey along the coastal borders. This experience went beyond the classroom, allowing us to explore the depths of the ocean, understand marine ecosystems, and witness the island's geological history firsthand.

Engaging in various social activities allowed me to fully immerse myself in the local culture, enjoying the splendid weather, ocean, and beaches. Personally, I embraced the opportunity to take surf classes, managing to stand up on the board—an achievement that added a thrilling personal touch to my Erasmus adventure.

In conclusion, my time in Gran Canaria for Erasmus has been truly transformative, influencing both my academic and personal aspects. Reflecting on this journey, it's apparent that each obstacle and achievement has contributed significantly to a more well-rounded and enriching Erasmus experience.
